Dear Colin

As the proposals are not likely to impact on public access, I have no concerns.

The public bridleway in the vicinity was formally diverted to the north of the property in 2008 (it previously went through the yard).

I would just like to stress that whilst any construction works are ongoing, care should be taken to not obstruct access to any rights of way or in any way prevent or deter public use of paths without the necessary legal diversion or closure order having been made.

Thanks
Lorna
